

The delivery of local traffic reports via XM Satellite Radio is very important to me. My daily commute takes me through areas that have poor reception of the local broadcast stations, therefore I rely heavily on the satellite delivery of this information.

I must further ask, by what logic should this service be limited? Is it simply congress' protection of one of their big money special interests?

Regards,

Tom Morse